The new steamer Celtic with her carrying capacity of 20,880 tons is the largest ever built. But marine architects predict that she will soon be followed by vessels of greater carrying capacity, as there is economy in operating these large vessels.

A Kentucky Judge has decided that a railroad does not cease to be a railroad because it uses electricity as a motive power instead of steam. While the trains run on rails it seems to us it would be a railroad if the trains ran by wind or were pulled by mules.

The papers have had a good deal to say about Miss Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan, shooting big game out West, but an old hunter out there who was in the party says she couldn't hit a deer at five paces and couldn't cook pancakes worth shucks.

Mr. Herman, of what was once Garfield county, in Kansas, lives in the finest house anywhere thereabouts, and it didn't cost him a red. The county went out of business as a county, the boom town in which the court house was located busted, he squatted on the quarter section on which it was built, entered it as a homestead and took possession of the house and there he has lives ever since with no one to question his proprietorship.

There is a movement on foot in Pittsburg to raise a fund to erect a monument to Parker, the Georgia negro who jumped on Czolgosz, floored him and prevented him from shooting a third time at the President. COTTON MILLING LONG AGO.

Old Wilmington Paper Announces Establishment of Factory at Greensboro.

In a copy of the People's Journal and Advertiser, published weekly in Wilmington in the year 1834, by Thomas Loring, is the following notice of the establishment of an "extensive" and perhaps the first cotton mill in the State:

"COTTON FACTORY.—An extensive Cotton Factory has been established at Greensborough, in this State. Five hundred and twenty-eight spindles and fifteen looms are in operation and between two and three hundred pounds of thread can be manufactured in a day."

To those acquainted with the extent of the cotton milling industry now in North Carolina, the above will be of interest.

JOINT MEETING POSTPONED.

Knights of Pythias Abandoned Session On Account of President's Death.

Out of respect to the deceased President of the United States, who was himself a faithful member of the order, the joint Pythian meeting of the four lodges in the city on Monday night has been postponed until the following Monday night.

The meeting is being arranged by Stonewall Lodge No. 1, and so far as possible, the programme mapped out for to-morrow night will be observed on the postponed date. The committee of arrangements is composed of Messrs. J. D. Kelley, J. J. Hopkins, W. C. Smith, A. C. Sneed and C. D. Yarborough.

The regular meeting of all the lodges will, however, be held as usual this week.

SOUTH CAROLINA CONVICT.

Supervisor Dozier, of Marion, Came for the Negro "Major" Henderson.

Supervisor J. T. Dozier, of the Marion county, South Carolina, chain gang, arrived in the city yesterday for the negro "Major" Henderson, who was captured as an escaped convict by Policemen Huggins and Bryant Friday night. The negro was easily identified and will be returned to South Carolina to-day or to-morrow.

Supervisor Dozier says the negro's term had almost expired when last June he made a break from the stockade and also made a way of escape for three other negroes. He will remain in the city for a day or two endeavor to coop the remainder of his "lost flock."

Sale of Wharf Property.

Forney J. Gooding and wife transferred by deed recorded yesterday to W. Taft for $2,000 valuable wharf property between Market and Dock streets. The tract begins in the western line of Water, thirty-three feet north from the intersection of said street with the northern line of Dock street, running thence northwardly along the western line of Water street, seventy-two feet more or less to the centre of Wilkinson's alley, M. J. Corbett's line, thence west along Corbett's line to the channel of the Cape Fear river, thence south with the channel of the river to a line extended due west from the point of beginning.

PEOPLE BEREAVED.

Great Sorrow Manifest in Wilmington Over Death of President Wm. McKinley.

MASS MEETING YESTERDAY.

Resolutions of Respect to Dead Chieftain and Many Eloquent and Personal Tributes — Telegram Sent to Secretary Cortelyou.

Perhaps in no Southern city was there apparent yesterday more outward or unmistakable manifestation of the deep gloom that has fallen over the nation in the death of its President, than in Wilmington.

Mr. McKinley's death was the all-important topic discussed on the streets, in offices and places of business, and deep and personal was the regret expressed by every one. Flags over private and public buildings and over vessels in the harbor were at half mast and there were many other evidences of the great loss felt by the people, regardless of political creed, class or condition of men. The Produce Exchange, while open to members, was the scene of no transactions in the commercial world and the miniature flags over the desk of the secretary were appropriately draped. Holiday hours, as far as business would permit, were observed at the United States buildings and officials were alike in expressing the most profound sorrow upon the death of their chief.

At the service in the Temple of Israel yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn, the Rabbi, made a most touching reference to the death, eulogizing the life and character of the deceased ruler.

The mass meeting of citizens in the Court House, to take action in reference to the death of the President, was indeed a most representative one. The large court room was full to overflowing with men who entered heartily and sympathetically into the spirit of the hour. The meeting was held at 10 o'clock and Mr. Hugh MacRae was called to the chair. Rt. Rev. Bishop A. A. Watson offered a very fervent prayer and upon motion of Mr. John S. Armstrong the following committee was named to pass upon any resolutions that might be offered: Messrs. J. C. Stevenson, W. R. Kenan, H. W. Malloy, A. M. Waddell and W. E. Springer.

The resolution embraced in the following telegraphic transmission to Secretary Cortelyou, with a request for conveyance of the sentiment to Mrs. McKinley, was then unanimously adopted:

"September 14, 1901.

"Secretary Geo. B. Cortelyou, Buffalo:

"At a representative public meeting of the citizens of Wilmington, N. C., held this morning at 10 o'clock, the following resolution was passed unanimously, and this committee was instructed to send the same to Mrs. McKinley. Will you kindly convey the resolution to her?

"'Resolved, That on this day, while we mourn with the whole country for our dead President and listen reverently to the messages of sympathy which are pouring in from all the nations of the earth, we deem it a mournful duty, as a community, to express our sorrow for the sufferings and death of William McKinley, our fellow citizen—the soldier, statesman and patriot—feeling, as we do, that we have not only experienced a national but also a personal affliction.

"His lofty character, his calm, wise statesmanship and his excellent diplomacy in handling our foreign affairs during a very trying and exciting period of the world's history have moved the hearts of the people as the heart of one man is moved and have brought the country to the front line of the ruling world powers.

"President of the whole people, and sustained by the loyalty of all the States he has commanded for us the respect of all foreign potentates.

"Whilst his kindly personality, his eminent services, his patience and beautiful fortitude in these last anxious days have endeared him to the hearts of all good citizens.

"We extend to his devoted wife and to his family our respectful sympathy.

"HUGH MACRAE,
"H. C. MCQUEEN,
"H. W. MALLOY,
"Committee."

Chairman MacRae, when the resolution had been feelingly adopted, stated that it was also the purpose of the meeting to hear from those who personally desired to say something in honor of the departed President. He then called upon Mayor Waddell, who spoke an eloquent tribute, which was listened to attentively. He referred to his acquaintance with Mr. McKinley when he was in Congress and his impression of the man and officer. He was a gentleman with as clean a record as any man in public life. His devotion to his wife was remarkable and beautiful. Although many differed with the late President in politics, none dared to question his political or personal integrity. Mayor Waddell closed a beautiful speech with these words: "Would to God that a large proportion of the Northern country could realize the feeling in the South. I do not believe any locality is more honest and sincere than this community. God save this country."

Hon. John D. Bellamy began a very feeling and eloquent tribute by saying that a great calamity has befallen the country and it is to be deeply deplored. Anarchy, he said, should be stamped out of the country. No man had ever been President of the United States who enjoyed a greater respect of his people than Mr. McKinley. Mr. Bellamy said he had a personal acquaintance with the President. He was easily approached and in his company one felt at perfect ease. He had a fullness of heart and tenderness rarely found in the public men of to-day. The people should meet the blow that has befallen them and make the best of it.

Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure next spoke tenderly of the dead ruler and the great calamity which has come upon his people. During the hour of the funeral he suggested that another public meeting be held and that the church bells of the city be tolled during the time.

The suggestion was favorably received, and it was the sense of the meeting that business houses close so that all may attend the meeting and show proper reverence.

Rev. Dr. A. G. Voigt next expressed his entire accord with the spirit of the meeting and the eulogies that had been said.

Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell spoke in exceedingly appropriate and touching language of the death of the President and recited the great anxiety of a devoted people since the news of the assassination spread like wildfire a week ago. Each of the three Presidents who have fallen at the hands of assassins was noted for his domestic virtues. He closed his very beautiful tribute by saying: "My own heart wears a tenderness for the noble and heroic woman whom the man now in death has just nursed to recovery by his love."

Mr. J. W. Norwood recited the events leading up to and the circumstances surrounding the assassination of the three presidents who had died at the hands of diabolical men. The killing of Mr. McKinley was the most unmitigated, reprehensible and cowardly of all. He said he knew of no more apt parallel in history than the murder of our Blessed Savior, who was betrayed with a kiss by Judas Iscariot.

Mr. D. L. Gore spoke in splendid language of the late President and his many virtues and capabilities. "We honor ourselves in honoring the dead President," said Mr. Gore.

Collector of Customs Jno. C. Dancy, the only colored man present, asked to be pardoned for his interruption during their labor of love. He spoke eloquently of the President and paid one of the most beautiful tributes of the meeting to his memory.

Mr. W. M. Cumming next spoke and impressed the people with the idea that President Roosevelt be given the utmost spirit and confidence.

Mr. H. C. McQueen concurred in the sentiment expressed by Mr. Cumming in regard to President Roosevelt and upon Mr. McQueen's motion, a verbal resolution extending the sympathy of the community to the new President in this great hour thrust upon him, was unanimously adopted.

The STAR regrets that space forbids a more complete reference to all the beautiful tributes paid to the President's memory, but it will suffice to say that each one was sincere and couched in the most appropriate and expressive language.

THE GREAT CLIVETTE COMPANY.

Attraction at Opera House Next Tuesday Evening—Press Notices Encouraging.

Next Tuesday is the day set for the appearance of the great Clivette and his company of European entertainers in this city and Manager Schloss assures his patrons and the public in general that this is the best and most expensive company which will visit Wilmington this season. The Manitoba Free Press said: "Those who attended the Winnipeg Theatre last evening had an opportunity of appreciating the result of long practice at an arduous task—that of reaching the acme of perfection in the art of juggling. His feats of magic were indeed astounding. The shadow throwing was also most entertaining. The tests in mental phenomena given were really marvellous, and quite different from any seen in this city. The performances are intensely interesting."

The engagement here is for one performance only, Tuesday evening, Sept. 17th. Seats are on sale at Gerken's cigar store.

Sixteenth Birthday Celebrated.

Miss Lillian May Ward, daughter of Mr. G. H. Ward, celebrated her sixteenth birthday at the family residence, No. 518 Red Cross street, Friday evening. A large assemblage of her young friends were present and an evening of rare enjoyment was experienced. There was an abundance of refreshments and music, and many handsome and costly presents were received. It was near midnight when the gathering of happy young people dispersed for their homes.

News of the Excursions.

A large excursion party reached the city yesterday from Conway, S. C., and returned in the evening. Hatch Bros. will bring their last excursion of the season from Dunn, N. C., and other points to-morrow. Tuesday an excursion from Mullins, S. C., will be "with us."

The City Tax Books.

Capt. A. L. DeRosset yesterday completed a computation of the city tax books and they are now in the hands of City Clerk and Treasurer King for collection. The figures of increase, valuation, etc., have been previously given in these columns.

Excursion To-day.

Don't forget the excursion to Southport and out to sea to-day on the steamer Wilmington. There will be only one trip and the boat leaves at 10 A. M., returning early in the evening. The fare for the round trip is only twenty-five cents.

COUNTY SCHOOL FUND

New Hanover Directors Will Make Demand On City for All Police Fines.

A CONTROVERSY EXPECTED.

About $600 Per Year is Involved—Example of Buncombe, Wake and Other Counties Will be Followed Here. Revenue for Six Months.

A controversy over the disposition of fines accruing from the municipal court is likely to be launched at any time between the city authorities and the County Board of School Directors.

About two years ago in Raleigh and in Asheville the county school authorities discovered a hidden law, or rather principle of law, which makes all fines imposed by the State payable to the school fund. In cases of towns and cities conjointly with the State, the law had never been enforced and when a demand was made upon the municipal authorities for these fines, it was promptly resisted. A test case was made up and the Supreme Court decided in favor of the school authorities. In Raleigh, Asheville and a few other cities the decision of the court was complied with and the money paid into the school fund. This year the demand for this money has been made in several counties of the State, and now it appears to be growing general.

The New Hanover School Board took the matter up several weeks ago, and it is now conferring with Mayor Waddell relative to the matter, though there appears to be a difference of opinion as to a construction of the law. Mayor Waddell is willing, so the school authorities have been informed, to pay into the school fund all fines accruing from violations of the State law, but those coming from a violation of the city ordinances he thinks should properly go into the city treasury. This, it is learned, will be resisted by the school authorities, who think that according to the law all the fines should go into the school fund, just as is the custom with magistrates and the Criminal Court. The school authorities also claim, that if they so desire, they can go back as far as the record extends and demand all the fines that have been paid during these years. It is learned, however, that it is not the disposition of the school directors to make such a sweeping demand, but they think that the amounts since January 1st, 1901, should be turned over for educational purposes and all fines paid in the future should be applied in the same manner.

The school authorities have been quietly working along this line for some time and hope to have the matter concluded amicably in the near future.

From a statement furnished by the city of fines and costs collected in the police court from Jan. 1st, 1901, to Aug. 19th, 1901—a little more than seven months—it is seen that the amount received is $489.90, deducting costs of $186.35, from which is left an aggregate of fines amounting to $303 55. The extent the city would suffer under the new arrangement and the benefit that would accrue to the school fund during the year may be drawn from these figures.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATED.

Wilmington Iron Works Baseball Team Gave Them Complete Shut-Out.

AN ELEGANT DINNER PARTY.

Given Last Evening by Y. M. C. A. Dining Club in Compliment to Retiring Secretary Turner.

In honor of Mr. W. W. Turner, who recently resigned as general secretary of the Wilmington Young Men's Christian Association to seek a more congenial climate to his health in Colorado, the Y. M. C. A. Dining Club last evening gave a most delightful dinner party which was greatly enjoyed by a number of guests and club members.

Mr. Eric Norden served very gracefully as toast master and toasts were responded to as follows: "Association," Mr. Paul M. Taylor; "Abroad," Dr. N. M. Wetzel; "Recollections," Mr. W. W. Turner. All of them were happy and in exceedingly good taste.

After dinner the party was delightfully entertained by a number of instrumental selections on the piano by Miss Fannie Corbett and several admirably rendered vocal numbers by Miss Janie Clark, with Miss Corbett as accompanist.

Among members and guests in attendance were the following: Paul M. Taylor and Miss Ida Ninness, W. W. Turner and Miss Louise Corbett, N. M. Wetzel, M. D., and Miss Janie Clark, Eric Norden and Miss Bessie Hankins, J. A. McGeachy and Miss Keith Covington, W. T. Smith and Miss Nan Huggins, Trice Turner and Miss Fanny Corbett, W. L. Williford and Miss Ida Black, W. L. Williams and Miss Mary Ennett.

Mr. Fitts, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is here to look over the field with a view to succeeding Mr. Turner as general secretary, was also present.

Mr. Turner expects to leave for his new post of duty to-morrow.

SPECIAL SERVICE TO-NIGHT.

Rev. Dr. Blackwell Will Speak From Words of Dying President.

At this evening's regular service at the First Baptist church the pastor, Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, will speak from the last words of the dying President at Buffalo. "It is God's way—His Will be Done."

There will be special music and Dr. Blackwell's discourse will no doubt be listened to with attention and profit by a very large congregation.

THE COTTON SEASON.

General Notes Gathered Here and There at the Local Port Yesterday.

The receipts of cotton yesterday were 793 bales against 2,941 bales on the same date last year.

The first cotton train of the season came in yesterday over the W. C. & A. railroad and brought 593 of the 793 bales received. The regular freight on the W. C. & A. brought in 150 bales.

The Clyde steamship which passed out at 4 P. M. yesterday had 600 bales consigned to New York.

SAFE BREAKERS CONVICTED.

Sentenced to Ten Years Imprisonment at Hard Labor—Appeal Taken.

[Special Star Telegram.]

WADESBORO, N. C., September 13.—The trial of George Ellsworth and Chas. Traylor, charged with wrecking the safe of M. H. Lowery & Co., was concluded to-day. The jury, after fifteen minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of "guilty." Defendants were then sentenced to ten years hard labor in the State penitentiary. They appealed to the Supreme Court. The defendants were given the maximum penalty of the law. The evidence establishing their guilt was exceedingly strong.

THE A. & M. COLLEGE IS FULL.

President Winston Says Thousand Boys Would Come If He Had Room.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 14.—There are now 315 students in the A. & M. College. This is all the college can accommodate. A few vacancies will be made by students leaving from poverty and other causes and in this way there will be room for a few more students from time to time, but only a few. President Winston says that new students should not come to the college without having previously written to ascertain if there is room for them. He says there is great demand for industrial education throughout the State, and that the A. & M. College would have a thousand students if it had room for them. Its greatest need now is for more dormitories and shop room for wood-working and iron-working. It is a pity that boys seeking industrial education have to be sent back home. The State needs skilled labor in all lines, and it ought to provide ample facilities at the A. & M. for all who come.

UNIVERSITY OPENED AUSPICIOUSLY.

All Classes Are Unusually Large and the Faculty Will be Increased.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

CHAPEL HILL, Sept. 13.—The University has opened very favorably, the registration at the close of Friday being nearly 500. This is largely in excess of last year's registration at the same time. The Medical, Law and Pharmacy classes are all unusually large. The large number of freshman has more than filled the class rooms, and additional teachers will have to be provided. The classes started work Thursday morning and everything is in smooth working order.

THE ALVIN JOSLIN COMPANY.

Engagement Not Cancelled and Performance Will be To-morrow Night.

The management of the Opera House takes pleasure in announcing that owing to the recovery of the leading lady of the "Alvin Joslin Company," they will present this elegant rural comedy to-morrow night, Monday, 16th inst. The play deals with an old Vermont farmer, Alvin Joslin, who receives a letter from an English lawyer, which takes him to New York, where he is the central figure in many ridiculous situations.

The company reached the city last evening from Durham, where it appeared Friday night. The Herald of that city says:

"The theatrical season opened here last night with the presentation of 'Alvin Joslin,' a rural comedy in four acts. The Opera House was well filled and seemed to enjoy the meeting very much.

"As the name implies, it was a play full of fun. From the beginning to the end the audience was kept in good humor by the old Vermont farmer, who got into all kinds of trouble trying to play off single in New York city. There was just enough of a plot to make the play interesting. The clog dancing was fine, as was some of the specialties. Taken as a whole the play was all that it was advertised to be and those who attended had no kick coming at the end of the evening."

About the Weather.

Although the "Weather Man" says it is so, few people can hardly realize that the temperature yesterday was one degree lower than the day before. Yesterday the thermometer reached the height of its ambition at 91 degrees, while on the day before the maximum temperature was 92. "All the difference in the feeling is in the humidity," said Observer Felger last night. "The humidity was very pronounced to-day; yesterday it was not so high."

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 15.

NO ANARCHISM IN THE SOUTH.

It has frequently been remarked since the lamented President McKinley was shot by the assassin Czolgosz that such an event could not have happened in the South, for there are no anarchists here. He might, as far as the people of the South are concerned, have gone from one one end of it to the other without the escort or attendance of even one life guard, while he never went anywhere in the North and West without detectives, and on some occasions without mounted body guards. While this is no reflection upon the Northern people as a people, it is true, and there are very good reasons for it. They are so fully embraced in the following editorial, which we clip from the Philadelphia Press, that we give it here entire. Under the heading of "Immigration and Anarchism," it says:

"There is no question that the number of advocates of anarchism has largely increased in this country during the past twenty years. Where does this increase come from? No intelligent person will assert that any number of native-born Americans of the second or third generation, or over, have been converted to anarchism. There is no evidence of it. The very freedom of the country is against native growth of that heresy. The abundance of opportunities, the liberty of action, the many chances to improve one's material condition are all antidotes to that mental state necessary to the reception of anarchism as a rule of action.

"Where does the increase of Anarchists come from, then? There is only one reply to this question. The putrid stream of anarchism must be fed by immigration. The official figures bear out this supposition. The following table shows the changes in the character of immigration from 1882 to 1901, the gain or loss per cent. in the number of immigrants from the different countries being given in the last two columns:

Immigrants from	1882.	1901.	Per cent of total. 1882.	1901.
All countries	788,992	487,918	.....	.....
Austria-Hungary	39,186	113,932	5.7	23.4
Germany	250,630	21,651	31.7	4.4
Denmark	11,618	3,653	1.4	0.7
France	6,604	3,150	0.7	0.6
Italy	32,159	135,266	4.0	27.9
Netherlands	9,317	2,349	1.0	0.5
Norway	20,191	12,509	2.7	2.5
Russia	51,950	85,937	2.7	17.4
Sweden	64,607	23,331	8.2	4.7
Switzerland	10,944	4,291	1.3	0.4
England	89,504	13,271	11.4	2.5
Ireland	74,432	30,561	9.7	6.2
Scotland	18,937	2,070	2.4	0.4

"The lesson this table teaches can be easily drawn. The best class immigrants this country has ever received have come from England, Scotland, Ireland, Germany, Sweden and Norway, Denmark and the Netherlands. But the immigration from every one of these countries shows a marked decline in 1901 as compared with 1882. On the other hand the least desirable class of immigrants this country has come from Europe has come from Austria-Hungary, Italy and Russia. It is in the last two of these three countries that anarchism and nihilism have their largest number of advoates and have been preached most persistently. And it is a significant fact that the immigration from each one of these countries shows a large and rapid increase.

"It is only reasonable then to conclude that the increase in the number of Anarchists and Nihilists in this country is due to the increase in the immigration from those countries where the adherents of these doctrines are the strongest. This fact can be made plainer by grouping the immigration from these countries by itself and showing its increase. This is done in the following table:

	1882.	1901.	Per Cent. 1882.	1901.
Italy	32,159	135,996	4.0	27.9
Russia	21,590	85,257	2.7	17.4
Totals	53,749	221,253

"In the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1901, the immigration from these two countries was over four times greater than it was in 1882. As the advocates of anarchism in this country have increased in about the same proportion in the same time it is only reasonable to assert that the increase has been caused by the growth in the immigration from those countries where Anarchists and Nihilists are most numerous. These facts should impress Congress with the need of a change in the immigration laws that will make provision for a more rigid sifting of the immigrants seeking this country."

We not only permit to enter our ports the indiscriminate herd from the countries which breed anarchism and nihilism and the more harmless socialism, but we admit avowed anarchists and nihilists, permit them to organize their societies, hold public meetings, publish papers disseminating their doctrines and advocating and defending assassination and eulogizing and making heroes of the assassins. They are under no restraint or police surveillance and are as free to advocate chaos and murder as the preacher is to preach Christ crucified and even freer than some are to preach doctrines that are new and disapproved of for some reason or for no reason.

By this tolerance and this broad latitude of personal liberty and freedom of speech and of the press they have become emboldened until they defy public sentiment and threaten with assassination any and all who incur their enmity.

Some cities and districts in the North and West are honeycombed with them, and there are probably thousands of them in the North today with the probabilities against their being one in the South.

The figures given in the editorial which we reproduce from the Press, explains this, for there has been no immigration of the elements of which anarchism is composed into the South. One might travel from on eend of it to the other without meeting a Russian or a Pole, and with the exception of New Orleans where the Mafia society has existed among the worst element of the Italians, but few Italians, those generally of a sober, industrious class, who are trying to earn an honest living and are law abiding.

With her small number of foreign born citizens, most of whom are good, honest, industrious and law-respecting people, the South is the most thoroughly American section of the Union, and being still an agricultural section there are few large cities for the reckless, incendiary, society-destroying element to gather in and to grow.

This fact has been recognized and acknowledged by such men as Senator Hoar and others on visits to the South, and this is one of the causes that gives the South the proud, enviable distinction of not being a congenial section for anarchists or assassins.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

On the death of President McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt became President of the United States. The untried pilot goes to the helm to succeed the experienced one who had stood faithfully at the wheel for nearly five years, and guided the ship safely through troublous waters. How the new pilot may fill his place, whether well or otherwise, remains to be seen, but there is hope entertained, even by those who have not been favorably impressed by him, that with the grave and mighty responsibilities that will devolve upon him, will come thought, sober reflection and a tempering down of that impulsive, impetuous, aggressive disposition that has been such a striking characteristic of the man, and has been no small factor in giving him the fame, and lifting him to the eminence he has attained.

We are among those that entertain that hope and believe that while Theodore Roosevelt will never make the well-poised, conservative, self-forgetting President that William McKinley did, he will agreeably disappoint those who had formed these opinions of the man from his aggressive, strenuous utterances and pen pictures in the public journals of the country, both of his own and other parties.

One thing that can be said of him and that is that he is a man of mind, and of individuality enough to give him force of character. He is also a student of history, and while ambitious his ambition has been an honorable one. He seeks the applause of his countrymen, but at the same time endeavors to deserve it. He is a partisan, an assertive, aggressive partisan, but he may prove broadminded, liberal and patriotic enough, now that his ambition has in a measure been attained to leave much of that partisanship behind him when he enters upon the Presidential office and realize that to win the plaudits of his countrymen and lasting fame, as his lamented predecessor did, he must prove more of a patriot than partisan.

As Governor of New York his administration was creditable and was not marred by any blotches of incompetency or of eccentricity, and if he has the good judgment to surround himself with conservative, broad-viewed counsellors, there is no reason why he should not make a President who will perform the duties of his high office with honor to himself and benefit to his country. That he may, at least let us hope.

As for the South it need not be solicitiously concerned about the course he may pursue, for there has been no manifestation by him of unfriendliness to this section, but on the contrary he has always spoken kindly of the South, from which his mother sprang.

MAN PROPOSES, GOD DISPOSES.

Three days ago ninety-nine out of a hundred of the American people believed that the lamented President McKinley would get well. That belief was based on the assuring bulletins issued frequently day after day by his attendant physicians and surgeons, every one of whom confidently believed that he would get well. They had managed his case with all the skill that their respective sciences were capable of and their patient had favorably responded to the treatment, until they became satisfied that his complete recovery was only a question of time, and but little time. It is needless to say that they were taken by surprise when the sudden and unlooked for reaction came, and they found that the patient whom they believed to be coming back to vigorous life, was rapidly and surely moving to the grave. Then they did all that human power or scientific knowledge could do or suggest, but death baffled human power and the skill of science. Never was there a more striking illustration of the saying that "man proposes, God disposes."

Not many weeks ago the idolized and cherished wife of the then living President lay at the point of death in San Francisco, and for several days her life hung in the balance which a breath might move one way or the other. The physicians, the most skilful that could be summoned, had grave doubts of her recovery. They resorted to heroic treatment to keep alive the spark of life in that frail body. Her husband, like the devoted companion and care-taker he had always been, remained with her, fearful that she might be snatched from him, and that much of the light of his life go out in darkness; but she lives, while he, the stalwart man, full of health and vigor, who watched so tenderly and anxiously over her, lies in the cold embrace of death, the husband of her heart—a sweet, sad, fond memory. "Man proposes, God disposes."

Unquestionably medical and surgical science has made marvellous progress in recent years. It was that which saved the life of Mrs. McKinley, but that was utterly powerless to save the life of her illustrious husband, even when it confidently believed it had saved it. "Man proposes, God disposes."

Let science, with all its achievements, still be modest.

As an illustration of what farm machinery has done in the way of increasing production, and as a stimulant to Florida farmers to keep up with the procession, the Jacksonville Times-Union calls attention to the fact that while the number of farm laborers in this country has only doubled since 1850, "we produce four times as much corn, six times as much wheat, eight times as much cotton, from twenty to a hundred times as much hay, beef, pork, mutton, butter, chickens and eggs," in all of which machinery figures directly or indirectly.

While the Congressmen are away Washington is trying to reform and have things orderly, therefore a law has been passed making unlawful in the District of Columbia the presence of any fowl, parrot or bird, or other feathered or haired vocalist which by offensively crowing, cackling, talking or singing or other noise shall disturb the serenity and comfort of any neighborhood.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Many people at the East and West favor lynching for anarchists; but they not long ago were very complacent about crimes against white women in the South. Lynching is wrong of itself, all the same. —Augusta Chronicle, Dem.

—— The secret service probably derives its name from the fact that it never gets onto the secrets of assassins until the latter commit an overt act. Then it knows more about them than even the assassins themselves knew.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— Some of the sticklers of society are attempting to discredit the administration because the head of one of its executive departments, the Sultan of Sulu, doesn't wear collars and cuffs with his dress suit. Why not give the poor man a little time to catch up with our customs? It will be recalled that some of our members of Congress spend considerable time in Washington before they can be coaxed into a dress suit. —Washington Post, Ind.

—— Socialism and anarchism are often used as synonymous terms, when strictly speaking they are antithetical. Socialism demands too much government or paternalism on an immense scale, while anarchism demands that there will be no government at all, so that the individual may be accountable to himself alone. Socialism is a vain dream that produces useless enthusiasts; anarchism is a madness that breeds war on all organized society and glorifies the murder of the greatest and best rulers.—Macon Telegraph, Dem.

—Above his head, as he worked, there hung, in an elaborate frame a dollar bill. "A relic with a history, I doubt not," observed the other. "Yes, the trophy of my first great financial victory," replied the man of affairs. "It is the first dollar I ever escaped from a summer hotel with." When asked if he had had recourse to a rope ladder he merely laughed, denying nothing.—Puck.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the Doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. B. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slep easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. TEARFUL, Trembling, frightened, she knows not why. Between her sobs she tells her husband of her misery. It is not enough for the husband to comfort the wife in this condition, she needs help. In those early days when the shadow of maternity first begins to fall upon the woman she is often nervous, sleepless, without appetite, and full of vague fears.

The help needed by women at this crisis is fully furnished by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It nourishes the nerves and so quiets them. It restores the appetite and induces refreshing sleep. It gives physical strength and mental buoyancy to meet the trial of motherhood, and makes the baby's advent practically painless.

"I will be very glad to say a few words for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. F. S. Douglas, of Mansonville, Brome Co., Que. "During the first four months when I looked to becoming a mother I suffered very much from nausea and vomiting, and I felt so terribly sick I could scarcely eat or drink anything. I hated all kinds of food. At this time I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he told me to get his 'Favorite Prescription' and a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I got a bottle of each and when I had taken them a few days I felt much better, and when I had taken hardly three parts of each bottle I felt well and could eat as well as any one, and could do my work without any trouble (I could not do anything before). I feel very thankful to Dr. Pierce for his medicine, and I tell all who tell me they are sick to get these medicines or write to Dr. Pierce."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

—Kinston Free Press: Dave Mitchell, the negro shot by an unknown white man at the A. & N. C. depot Sunday night, died Friday night about 12 o'clock.

— Wilson Times: Tremendous sales are still the order of the day. All the tobacco men, while tired, are yet jubilant over the immense quantity the markets will sell this year.

— Smithfield Herald: It is astonishing to see how much tobacco is being sold on the Smithfield market these days. Each day there are big sales at each house and the prices remain high.

— Fayetteville Observer: John McKinney, alias Jim Lowry, who killed Policeman Jones, at Shelby, N. C., on August 4th, while resisting arrest near Murphy, Friday morning, was shot and killed in self-defense by ex-Town Marshal W. J. Watson, formerly of Orange county, N. C., one of the posse. The negro had a Winchester drawn on Watson, who fired too quick for the negro. There is a reward of $500 offered.

— Fayetteville New Era: Mr. Cader Parker, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of the county, died at his residence, near Little River Academy, last Friday in the 80th year of his age. —— About a week ago the little 12-year-old son of Mr. Ed. Smith, of Tar Heel, Bladen county, was placed in the sanitarium in this city under treatment for mental disorder. He was returned to his home Wednesday violently insane. The best treatment known to the medical profession was administered, but to no beneficial effect.

— Fremont Visitor: We were shown the other day in Goldsboro an instance of the almost human intelligence of ants. A gentleman found a colony of medium size black ants at work in the hollow of a tree in his front yard, and, desiring to dislodge them, put tar all around the mouth of the whule. Next morning he went to the tree to note the completeness of his victory, when he found that the ants penned on the inside of the hollow had cut and carried out bits of rotten wood with which they had made a bridge across the tar and the line of march into and out of the hollow was proceeding as if no interruption had occurred.

—Sanford Express: We learn that farmers in some sections of this county are losing their hogs by cholera. This disease seems to be prevalent among hogs in many other sections of the State. The loss to the farmers is very heavy as it will soon be the fattening season. —— We are told that there is a graveyard one mile and a half east of Jonesboro which is over 100 years of age, the first person—a child—having been buried there during the revolutionary war. This old graveyard is now in the woods. It has been so long neglected that there is no road or path leading to it. It is called "the Dalrymple graveyard." Large trees are now growing over many of the graves. In one section of this old burying ground the graves are marked by headstones while there is nothing to show where hundreds of other persons have been buried.

— Charlotte News: "O Lord, let me die." "Boys can't you do some thing for me?" These were some of the sad words that fell from the lips of a white man at the Southern depot Thursday night as he lay on a stretcher in the baggage room dying from an accident. The man's name was J. E Thompson, of Gastonia. Thompson, it seems, was beating his way on 38, the vestibule, and as the engine began to slow down in the yards he jumped off directly in front of a switch engine going in the opposite direction. In an instant the engine knocked the man down and passed over his body. He was picked up and carried to the baggage room on a stretcher. Investigation proved that the legs and lower part of the body had been mangled and mashed into one inconglomerate mass. Thompson seemed to be conscious notwithstanding the fact that the lower half of his body was practically severed from the upper portion. Deceased was a man evidently in the prime of life. His parents live in Gastonia and the body was removed to that place to-day for burial.

HAVE FAITH IN THE BOY.

Have faith in the boy, not believing
That he is the worst of his kind,
In league with the army of Satan,
And only to evil inclined;
But daily to guide and control him
Your wisdom and patience employ,
And daily, despite disappointment
And sorrow, have faith in the boy.

Have faith to believe that some moment
In life's strangely checkered career,
Convicted, subdued, and repentant,
The prodigal son will appear;
The gold in his nature rejecting
The dark and debasing alloy,
Illumining your spirit with gladness,
Because you have faith in the boy.

Though now he is wayward and stubborn
And keeps himself sadly aloof
From those who are anxious and fearful
And ready with words of reproof;
Have faith that the prayers of a mother
His wandering feet will arrest,
And turn him away from his follies,
To weep out his tears on her breast.

The brook that goes dashing and dancing
We may not divert from its course,
Until the wild, turbulent spirit
Has somewhat expended its force;
The brook is the life of the river,
And if we the future might scan,
We'd find that a boisterous boyhood
Give vigor and life to the man.

Ah! many a boy has been driven
Away from home by the thought
That no one believed in his goodness
Or dreamed of the battles he fought;
So if you would help him to conquer
The foes that are prone to annoy,
Encourage him often with kindness,
And show you have faith in the boy.

Have faith in his good resolutions,
Believe that at last he'll prevail;
Though now he's forgetful and heedless,
Though day after day he may fail.
Your doubts and suspicious misgivings
His hope and his courage destroy;
So, if you'd secure a brave manhood,
'Tis well to have faith in the boy.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— The tear-dimmed eyes of love see more of Christ than the keen eyes of criticism.

— The "first honor" men in the school of Christ are those who endure the most for His name.

— Cling to your old friends. Time and circumstances will try to steal them, but look them up, for they cannot be replaced.

— Christ did not say ye are my orators, my rhetoricians, but ye are my witnesses. Give us more testimony.—DeLong.

— It would be a good thing if some people could convert some of the brass of their pretensions into the gold of true worth.

— If there is something in your religion worth having, put it into your faces, set it to music in your homes, go out into the world and laugh it.—C. T. Scott.

— The Alpine guide held out his hand, saying: "That hand never lost a man." The traveller then stepped upon it, and was lifted over the danger. Calvary's pierced hand never lost a man.

— Make a rule, and pray God to help you keep it, never, if possible, to lie down without being able to say, "I have made one human being, at least, a little wiser, a little happier, or a little better this day." You will find it easier than you think, and pleasanter.—Chas. Kingsbury.

— The worst of all lies is the one that contains some portion of truth. A lie out of whole cloth does not easily gain credence, and is, therefore, not likely to do a great deal of harm. But a lie that is mixed up with enough of truth to float it is sure to be a potent instrument of evil. What a queer thing it is that a man should suppose he is mitigating the heinousness of his falsehoods when he is simply toning them down to the limit of their greatest effectiveness.

A Possible Reason.

Freddie's father had just been struggling with an old fashioned bureau, and retiring disheartened from an unsuccessful effort to open one of its compartments he moved to the window and looking out upon the lowering sky exclaimed:

"It's mighty strange that the weather bureau can't give us a change of weather."

"Maybe," shyly interposed Freddie, "they can't open the bureau drawers."

Advice.

"Young man," said Senator Sorghum, "if you want to succeed in politics never break your word."

"But are there not times when it is impossible to keep a promise?"

"To be sure. But you must make your arrangements so that you don't break the promise yourself. Put the blame on somebody else."—Washington Star.

No Trouble.

"I suppose," said the visitor, "it's like pulling teeth to get any money out of your husband these days?"

"Oh," chipped in little Tommy, before his mother could speak, "ma don't have any trouble pullin teeth. She just takes 'em out and puts 'em in a glass."—Philadelphia Record.

Her Singing.

We have handled Dr. McGeth's TEETHINA (Teething Powders) ever since its first introduction to the public and trade as a proprietary medicine, and our trade in it has steadily increased from year to year until our orders now amount to two or three hundred gross per year, which is a very strong evidence of its merit and the country, for they say that nothing so effectually counteracts the effects of the summer's hot sun or overcomes so quickly the troubles incident to teething.

Mrs. D. Finlay, Petoskey, Mich., writes: "I never was better in my life than I am now. Peruna has cured me. I was fifty-seven years old last Friday and don't feel as if I could be more than twenty. I was sick for five long years. I doctored all the time. Nothing helped me permanently until I heard of Dr. Hartman and his medicine and he cured me. I had been so sick, suffered almost death, vomiting three or four times daily, no strength, not able to walk, and now for one year and a half I have been a well woman. People are surprised to see me so well. I tell them that Dr. Hartman cured me with Peruna."

For all of that class of disorders known as female diseases, Peruna is without a rival, because it strikes at the source of these diseases. Peruna produces clean, healthy mucous membranes, without which no woman can be strong or beautiful.

HERE'S AN EXPERT CASTER.

A Man on a Fishing Boat Who Knows How to Handle a Sinker.

"The expert fly caster," said a city angler, "certainly does beautiful work, but I once saw an exhibition of lead casting that pleased me as much as the very finest casting of the fly. This was partly due, no doubt, to the fact that I was personally interested in the result, but without regard to that it was, all the same, very slick juggling with a sinker.

"This was one day on a fishing banks' boat off Seabright. My neighbor at the rail in swinging his line around to throw out got a bight of it around my hat, a soft felt, and lifted it gently off my head and dropped it over the side to fall in the water. It dropped lightly with the brim down and began floating away softly on the tide, the boat being anchored. Well, now, you know that I thought that some dolphin would be clapping the hat on his head next, or some mermaid be tying it around her chin for a sunbonnet. I never expected that I'd wear it again, when along comes the man that could cast a lead. Folks had been hollerin 'Hat overboard!' and he came along to see if he could pick it up.

"He was a man employed on the boat in some capacity, and I dare say he's there yet. He had a short, rather stout, jointed rod, the kind the fishing boat fishermen always carry, and a long line on one of those big wooden reels; sinker and hooks on the end of the line. He was fishing himself. By the time he'd heard of it and got where he could make a cast for it the hat was 75 feet astern. He swung the lead around the tip of the rod and then he let her whizz, and I guess he missed the hat by about a foot.

"Well, then I gave the hat up for sure, because I didn't see how any living man could come any nearer to it than that at the distance, and now it was floating farther and farther away. But the expert lead caster reeled in and tried again, the hat being then a full 100 feet or more away. He swung the lead around and let her sizzle, and this time he dropped the line squarely across the top of that hat, with the lead dropping in the water just beyond it, and then he towed the hat gently back and a man on the lower deck reached over and picked it up with a boat hook, and in a minute or two, after I had let it drip a little, I had it back on my head.

"I don't know who is just now the champion fly caster, but I don't doubt for a minute that the man on the fishing boat still holds the record in casting the lead."

THE FALLACY OF BOILS.

Don't Believe That These Confounded Pests Are Good Things.

"It is an unshaken article of belief with most people that skin diseases are almost always catching, that they show that the sufferers themselves or their parents are no better than they should be, that they indicate that 'the blood is bad,' that you must be careful or you will 'drive it in,' and the patient will die if nothing more, and that a boil is worth $5 in doctors' bills saved. They are all wrong, teetotally wrong, on the very best medical authority," says Harvey Sutherland in Ainslee's. "Not more than two or three of the hundred or so skin diseases catalogued are catching, and the chances are that the eruption is as innocent and as innocuous as a cold.

"If there is such a thing as 'bad blood,' medicine has not found it out. Next to nothing is known in regard to the condition of blood in disease. Chemical and microscopical study has utterly failed to show that there is any difference between the blood in health and the blood in cutaneous disorders. Certain of them are symptomatic of nervous breakdown, and imperfect digestion causes others. Tomatoes, bananas, strawberries, shellfish and other articles of diet, harmless to most of us, cause a rash to break out on others. Evidently the medical profession does not fear 'driving the disease in,' for the treatment for cutaneous affections is now wholly local.

"A boil is an acute inflammation of the tissues surrounding the hair follicle and is due to some infection of the follicle by a germ, generally the staphylococcus pyogenes aureus. I thought you might like to know the name. Boils come upon the just and unjust, on those who have good blood and those who have bad blood. What forms inside the tormenting thing is not the strained out impurities of the blood, for pus does not exist in the blood. It is of local formation.

"A boil is not worth 5 cents, let alone $5. It is just what your untutored imagination says it is, a confounded nuisance. If anybody owed me $5 and could either pay it in cash or boils, whichever I preferred, I should take the cash every time, even at a discount. I think I should get more comfort that way."

An Approach to Perpetual Motion.

A clock is to be seen at Brussels which comes about as near being a perpetual motion machine as can be invented, for the sun does the winding. The following is the method by which it works: A shaft exposed to the solar rays causes an up draft of air, which sets the fan in motion. The fan actuates mechanism which raises the weight of the clock until it reaches the top and then puts a break on the fan till the weight has gone down a little, when the fan is again liberated and proceeds to act as before. As long as the sun shines frequently enough and the machinery does not wear out the clock will keep in perpetual motion.

NEW YORK, Sept 14.—Prime mercantile paper 5@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange nominal; actual business in bankers' bills at 485¼ for demand and 482¼ for sixty days. Posted rates 483¼@484 and 486¼. Commercial bills 482@484¼.

Following the precedent set at the time of the death of Presidents Lincoln and Garfield, the Stock Exchange adjourned immediately upon assembling to-day, out of respect to the memory of President McKinley. As a consequence, the money market and the exchange market were both merely nominal, and threw no light upon the question of how the President's death would affect the markets. The only incident worthy of attention was the weekly bank statement. The decrease in cash reserves of $3,870,100, was rather larger than expected even with the payments yesterday for government bond redemption not included. But on the other hand the stock market liquidation during the week has contracted loans for $12,879,700, thus materially reducing the legal reserve requirement to the benefit of the surplus which is only lightly encroached upon.

The produce, cotton, coffee, metal and consolidated exchanges also were closed out of respect to the memory of President McKinley.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCKLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

Next Session Begins September 18, 1901.

LIMESTONE COLLEGE, a high-grade institution of learning, invites the patronage of the Southern people on the ground of its high standard, which is the equal of that of any college in the United States whether for men or for women, its thorough instruction, which is given by a large and able Faculty, using university methods, and its persistent and successful endeavor to develop in its students the highest culture, combined with refinement of manners and elevation of character. The institution possesses a location unsurpassed for beauty and healthfulness in the entire South, buildings thoroughly equipped for college work, a splendid library, excellent laboratories, and all the material accessories of study. The College invites inspection of all these advantages. But the emphasis is laid upon the WORK DONE. Full literary, scientific, musical and artistic courses. Besides the degree of A. B., the degree of A. M. is given for advanced graduate work. THE WINNIE DAVIS SCHOOL OF HISTORY, endorsed by all the great leaders of the South, by the Legislature of South Carolina, the Legislature of Maryland, and the great Confederate Reunion at Louisville, gives elaborate instruction in Southern History and Southern Literature. HE LOST TWO LOVES.

Incidents That Caused the Abandonment of His Affection.

He was unmarried, 40 years old, with a prosperous business and a snug little fortune invested in stocks and bonds which brought him fair returns. He was telling a friend how deeply in love he was at one time when a young man and how he became disillusioned.

"How I did love that girl!" said he. "She had auburn hair and laughing, melting eyes and a complexion of wax and tints that made my heart throb every time I was near her. It seemed to me that if there were angels on earth she was one. The night I went to see her, determined that we should be betrothed before I left her presence, was one I shall never forget. Her little brother was in the room, and he told me what great sport they had had that day; that his sister had drowned a kitten—just threw it into a pail of water and then sat down on the pail. I left soon after and never went back.

"About a year and a half ago I met a woman toward whom I seemed irresistibly drawn. She was a widow, 30 years old, with some property and charming in every way. I became devoted in my attentions and really thought that at last the only woman in the world for me had come in her person. One night we went to a theater. The play was full of emotion and love scenes—one of those plays where 'heart goes out to heart,' and all that. Both of us cried during the performance. Unconsciously my hand sought hers, and my pressure was returned. We looked at each other, and tears in her beautiful eyes met the tears in mine. I resolved then and there that that night should settle my fate. On her arrival at her home, as I helped her from the carriage, I tenderly adjusted her wrap about her, saying, 'You must be careful not to catch cold, dear.'

"The night was a little frosty, and as I stepped aside from adjusting her wrap my feet flew out from beneath me, and I fell, striking the walk with considerable force. She burst into a loud laugh, not one of those little, harmless, forgiving laughs, but a laugh that echoed in the street and shook her entire frame. As I scrambled to my feet and recovered my hat she murmured, 'Oh, are you hurt?' She gave vent to another peal of laughter. Going up the steps she said, 'Oh, I am so'— And there followed peal after peal of laughter. As the door opened and I turned to go down the steps she stopped laughing long enough to say, 'Why, aren't you coming in?' 'Not tonight, thank you,' said I. 'Good night, Mrs. —!' And I haven't been back there any more.

"I rather guess the true love for me has gone some other way and we shall never meet. Between women who can drown young kittens and giggle about it and women who can cry at make believe love scenes and laugh at my predicament if I meet with an unfortunate accident, I'd rather get along in peace and contentment and live only in anticipation of the joys and comforts of a married life and a home."

Just then the train stopped for Warren, and I had to leave the smoking car and the two bachelor friends who had been exchanging confidences while occupying the seat in front of me.—Warren (Ills.) Sentinel-Leader.

THE WORD HODGEPODGE.

This Curious Expression Seems to Be of Legal Origin.

Few words in the English language have such a variety of meanings and spellings as hotchpotch. Hotchpotch, hotchpodge, hotchpet, hodgepotch, hodgepodge, hodgepot and every other conceivable combination of the syllables contained in those words may be found in literature and heard in conversation.

Nowadays, it is chiefly used by children to designate a game which they play on the sidewalk, on which is roughly drawn in chalk the required form. The game is quite popular in New York, and on a summer's day there is hardly a block without its hodgepodge game, the chalk marks used in them remaining until the rain washes them off.

The words hodgepodge are also used by the Scotch to denote a certain kind of pudding made up of numerous kinds of ingredients.

But the words are really of legal origin. In olden times it was the custom for a father to give a daughter a portion of his estate for her "advancement in marriage." If, upon his death, he left the rest of his estate to his children proportionately, the one to whom the marriage portion had been given could not participate in the distribution unless she agreed to divide the lands which she had previously obtained as her marriage portion in equal proportion with the rest of the lands descending.

This was dominated bringing those lands into hotchpot. If, however, she thought that she would be the loser by so doing, she could retain the lands she had at first received intact.

Just why this custom received the name of hotchpot does not appear, but in an old English text book the following explanation is found: "It seemeth that this word hotchpot is in English a pudding; for in a pudding is not commonly put one thing alope, but one thing with other things together."

By this was meant that the marriage portion and the lands subsequently descending should first be fixed and blended together and then equally divided among the sisters. The word hodgepodge is now most commonly used to designate any kind of mixture, although what relation that meaning of the word has to the game as played by our American children is not very apparent.—New York Herald.

Aisle Seat Cigars.

"Aisle seats" is the label one can see over a pigeonhole in the box office of the Grand Opera House. But one can't see anything in this pigeonhole that looks like theater tickets, so the versatile treasurer of the Grand is often called upon for an explanation.

"I generally have four or five cigars in that apartment," said the treasurer, "and they're always given to me by fellows who want aisle seats. When I am so fortunate as to have aisle seats, they generally open their hearts and give me a cigar. All the cigars go in that pigeonhole, and when a fellow comes along who wants to smoke real badly I give him one of the 'aisle seats.' Experience has been a dear teacher with me. I never smoke any of those gift cigars. Try one and it will be your last in all probability."—Kansas City Times.

He Had to Change It.

"Yes," said the author, "some objections were raised to my story in Boston. It was pointed out that one of the expressions was very inelegant, and I had to change it."

"What was the fault?"

"Why, in speaking of cooking in the olden days I inadvertently used the word 'spit,' and I had to make the phrase read 'She was slowly turning the expectorate' in order to make the book acceptable in the best circles."—Washington Post.

When Sermons Were Long.

Clocks were introduced in 1720 from Great Britain and soon came into common use. Before that time hourglasses were generally employed, and in the churches an hourglass on the pulpit was deemed almost as indispensable an article of furniture as the Bible. The sermon was measured by glasses, and it was frequently known that the preacher "turned the glass" three times in the course of his sermon.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous powers of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

Have the Home Beer Pure

Whatever you drink outside, let your home beer be Schlitz. That is pure beer. No bacilli in it --- nothing to make you bilious.

Beer is a saccharine product, and germs multiply rapidly in it. The slightest taint of impurity quickly ruins its healthfulness.

We go to the utmost extremes to prevent that. Cleanliness is a science where Schlitz beer is brewed.

We even cool the beer in plate glass rooms, in nothing but filtered air.

Then we filter the beer. Then we sterilize every bottle.

And Schlitz beer is aged. The beer that makes you bilious is green beer.

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 15

MASS MEETING IN RALEIGH.

Resolutions Adopted by the Council of State Upon the Death of President McKinley—Gov. Aycock.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 14.—The North Carolina Council of State met to-day and adopted resolutions expressive of profound regret at the death of William McKinley, President of the United States. The following are some features of the resolutions:

"That his high personal character, his domestic virtues, his courage displayed in following convictions of duty, and his heroic struggle to recover from the effects of the assassin's shot, in order to give the people of our common country the benefit of his services, and to win their admiration for faithful performance of duty, merit our warmest commendation.

"That we view with horror the dastardly act of the assassin who struck down the President of the United States while expressions of 'Peace on earth and good will to men' had scarcely died away from his lips; and we note with alarm within the borders of our free republic the presence of bands of anarchists bound by secret ties of infamy to red handed murder.

"That we hereby express our hearty approval of all legislation, both State and national, within the limits of the constitution, designed to prevent a recurrence of great crimes similar to the one which we to-day lament, and to suppress and exterminate the spirit of anarchy in all cases by providing swift and adequate punishment."

There was a mass meeting of citizens to-night during which brief addresses were made by Governor Aycock, United States Senator F. M. Simmons, ex Senator Marion Butler, Chief Justice Furches, and Associate Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court. Suitable resolutions were adopted deploring the death of the President, denouncing anarchy and calling upon Congress to provide adequate legislation against admitting into this country enemies of law and order.

Governor Aycock announced that he desires mayors of cities to notify him who will attend the funeral at Washington, so that he can appoint them as a delegation to represent the State. The Governor will attend the funeral.

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS' CASE.

The Conspiracy Charge Much More Serious Since the President's Death. Hearing Set for Tuesday.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Sept 14.—Out of respect to the memory of William McKinley and to allow the police additional opportunity of investigating a case which is now of the most serious character, a recess till Tuesday in the anarchist case was ordered to-day by Judge Chetlain.

Mr. Geeting, counsel for the anarchists in the habeas corpus proceeding, made the motion for a recess when court opened. He said:

"Since the adjournment of court yesterday we have heard with deep regret that the President is dead. Upon a conference of counsel this morning we considered that not only out of respect to the dead but of justice to the living, this case should be postponed till Monday.

"We immediately communicated our views to the prisoners and they heartily endorsed our position. While the President lived they desired their liberty, but now, as he is dead, they say they are willing to remain where they are for forty-eight hours, and give the public authorities ample opportunities to investigate. Then we will desire a hearing both upon the law and the evidence, and will ask their final discharge."

Opposing counsel suggested that Tuesday be made the day for reconvening court, and in this the judge concurred, stating that there was already a move on foot to close all the courts Monday, out of respect to the memory of the nation's dead chief.

Assistant City Prosecutor Owens stated to-day that by the death of the President the conspiracy charges against the anarchists becomes much more serious. While the President lived the charge against them was a misdemeanor, but now that he is dead, under the laws of Illinois, if it can be shown that they conspired to produce his death and aided and abetted the murder, they are equally guilty with Czolgosz.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

Official Order Announcing the Death of President McKinley Issued.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Hackett to-day sent the following dispatch to every commander-in-chief, to every navy-yard and every ship singly:

"It is with profound sorrow that the department anuonnces to you the death of President McKinley at 2:15 September 14."

The Acting Secretary also issued the following order to the naval service:

Navy Department, Washington, D. C., Sept. 14, 1901—The President of the United States died this morning at fifteen minutes after 2 o'clock in the city of Buffalo, N. Y. Officers and men of the navy and marine corps need not be reminded of the public and private virtues of their late commander-in-chief. The whole people loved William McKinley, for he loved and trusted them.

As soldier, statesman, husband, and as a pure minded, great hearted American, his fame now belongs to his country.

Under the constitution Theodore Roosevelt, previously Vice President, has become President and commander-in-chief of the navy and marine corps of the United States.

ROOSEVELT TOOK OATH OF OFFICE.

Sworn In by Judge Hazel in the Presence of Members of the Cabinet.

PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC

Announced His Intention to Carry Out the Policy of His Predecessor—Members of the Cabinet Will Retain Their Portfolios.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14.—President Roosevelt reached Buffalo at 1:40 this afternoon, accompanied only by his private secretary, William Loeb, Jr. An immense crowd which had been awaiting his arrival for hours was gathered about the station, eager to catch a sight of the President. The train, however, did not enter the proper station, but the President landed at the terrace. When he left the train an escort of the Fourth signal corps formed about him and conducted him to an automobile, with his friend Ansley Wilcox in waiting.

The demonstration which greeted his appearance was in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. Those who saw him did not raise a cheer, but attested their respect by lifting their hats.

As soon as he entered the vehicle, the chauffeur turned the lever and the automobile went skimming away to the residence of Mr. Wilcox, on Delaware avenue. Twenty mounted police clattering along on either side could with difficulty keep the pace which the automobile set.

President Roosevelt declined to make any statement whatever for publication. He arrived at the Wilcox home at 1:45 o'clock, his only attendants being Mr. William Loeb, Jr., his secretary, and Mr. Ansley Wilcox.

At the Milburn House.

With hardly any conversation he retired at once to his room, where he bathed and dressed. At 2:30 o'clock he was ready to leave for the Milburn house, where he desired to make his official call of condolence. He was escorted by a detail from the Fourth signal corps and mounted police. So rapidly did his driver proceed that his escort was left a couple of blocks behind, with the exception of the commanding officer and a lieutenant of police.

The President was attired in a black frock coat and dark striped trousers, and wore a silk hat. He was somber of countenance and appeared to feel both the solemnity of the occasion and its responsibilities for him. He alighted at the Milburn house at exactly 2:38 o'clock. He was accompanied to the house by his host, Mr. Ansley Wilcox, and one of the secret service force.

President Roosevelt came out of the Milburn House at 2:56 and drove to the Wilcox home, reaching there at 3:15. A ten minutes wait for the members of the cabinet ensued and preparations were made for Taking the Oath of Office.

The place selected was the library of Mr. Wilcox's house, a rather small room, but picturesque, the heavy oak trimmings and the massive book cases giving it somewhat the appearance of a legal den. A pretty bay window with stained glass and heavy hangings formed a background and against this the President took his position. Surrounding him were the five members of the cabinet, Secretaries Hitchcock, Root, Long, Wilson and Postmaster General Smith. Nearby were Senator Chauncey M. Depew, Judge of the Court of Appeals Haight, John Scatherd, Mr. and Mrs. Ansley Wilcox, Miss Wilcox, George P. Sawyer, Doctors Mann, Park and Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Milburn, Secretary William M. Loeb, Jr., Secretary George B. Cortelyou, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Carri, R. C. Scathered, J. D. Sawyer, William Jeffers, official telegrapher of the United States Senate, and Judge of the United States District Court John R. Hazel.

Judge Hazel stood near the President in the bay window, and the latter showed his extreme nervousness by plucking at the lapel of his long frock coat and nervously tapping the hardwood floor with his heel. He stepped over once to Secretary Root and for five minutes they conversed earnestly. The question at issue was whether the President should first sign an oath of office and then swear in or whether he should swear in first and sign the document in the case after.

All in Tears.

At precisely 3:32 o'clock Secretary Root ceased his conversation with the President, and stepping back, while an absolute hush fell upon every one in the room, said in an almost inaudible voice:

"Mr. Vice President, I"—then his voice broke and for fully two minutes the tears came down his face, and his lips quivered so that he could not continue his utterances. There were sympathetic tears from those about him and two great drops ran down either cheek of the successor of William McKinley. Mr. Root's chin was on his breast. Suddenly throwing back his head as if with an effort, he continued in a broken voice:

"I have been requested on behalf of the Cabinet of the late President, at least those who are present in Buffalo, all except two, to request that for reasons of weight affecting the affairs of government you should proceed to take the constitutional oath of President of the United States."

Judge Hazel had stepped to the rear of the President and Mr. Roosevelt coming closer to Secretary Root, said in a voice that at first wavered but finally came deep and strong, while as if to control his nervousness he held firmly to the lapel of his coat with his right hand:

Will Continue McKinley's Policy.

"I shall take the oath at once in accordance with your request, and in this hour of deep and terrible national bereavement I wish to state that it shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace and prosperity and honor of our beloved country."

The President stepped farther in the bay window and Judge Hazel, taking up the constitutional oath of office, which had been prepared on parchment, asked the President to raise his right hand and repeat it after him. There was a hush like death in the room as the judge read a few words at a time and the President, in a strong voice and without a tremor and with his raised hand as steady as if carved from marble, repeated it after him.

"And thus I swear," he ended it. The hand dropped by the side and the chin for an instant rested on the breast and the silence remained unbroken for a couple of minutes as though the new President of the United States was offering silent prayer. Judge Hazel broke it, saying, Mr. President, please attach your signature."

And the President turning to a small table near by, wrote "Theodore Roosevelt" at the bottom of the document in a firm hand. "I should like to see the members of the cabinet a few moments after the others retire," said the President, and this was the signal for the score of people who had been favored by witnessing the ceremony, to retire. When they turned to go, the President said: "I will shake hands with you people gladly," and with something of his old smile returning, he first shook hands with the members of the cabinet present, then Senator Depew and finally with a few guests and newspaper men.

The Cabinet and Congress.

Immediately following the dispersing of the spectators after the taking of the oath, the President and the cabinet members were present to confer with him. When it was finished the President said to the representative of the Associated Press:

"Following out the brief statement I made when taking the oath that I would follow the administrative lines laid down by President McKinley, I requested the members of the cabinet who were present to remain in their positions at least for the present. They have assured me that they will, and I may say that I have assurances also from the absent members."

Inquiry was made of the President as to whether an extra session of Congress would be called by him, and he said in substance that there was no fundamental law requiring the calling of Congress together upon the succession of a vice president to the presidency and that after consultation with the cabinet they had decided that no such extra session would be called.

The President, after the meeting of the cabinet, saw a few personal friends and then putting on his hat said to Secretary Root: "Let us take a little walk; it will do us both good."

Secretary Root assented and they walked out on the porch. His host, Mr. Ansley Wilcox, said: "Mr. President, shan't I go along with you?"

He said: "No, I am going to take a short walk up the street with Secretary Root and I will return again."

Guarded by Detectives.

When he got down to the foot of the walk a couple of policemen and a couple of detectives in citizens' clothes started to follow him. He turned and told his secretary to tell them that he did not desire any protection. "I do not want to establish the precedent of going about guarded."

The policemen and detectives touched their hats, but before he had gone a hundred yards two of them were walking just behind him and two of them were following him on the other side of the street. The two distinguished men attracted but little attention until they got near the police lines on Delaware avenue when the President stopped to shake hands and say good-bye to Secretary Root when the crowd recognized him and surrounded him. The police drove the crowd back, and the President, accompanied by Colonel Bingham who joined him and watched also by his former military secretary at Albany, Colonel George Curtis Treadwell, walked briskly back to to the Wilcox mansion.

He announced later that he would not leave the city until Monday morning when the funeral train is to leave.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

Appointing Thursday, 19th of September, a Day of Mourning and Prayer Throughout the United States

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, Sept. 14.—President Roosevelt to-night issued the following proclamation.

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation:

A terrible bereavement has befallen our people. The President of the United States has been struck down; a crime committed not only against the chief magistrate, but against every law-abiding and liberty-loving citizen.

President McKinley crowned a life of largest love of his fellowmen, of most earnest endeavor for their welfare, by a death of Christian fortitude, and both the way in which he lived his life and the way in which, in the supreme hour of trial he met his death, will remain forever a precious heritage of our people.

It is meet that we as a nation express our abiding love and reverence for his life, our deep sorrow for his untimely death.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, September 19th, the day on which the body of the dead President will be laid in its last earthly resting place, as a day of mourning and prayer throughout the United States. I earnestly recommend all the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission to the will of Almighty God, and to pay out of full hearts their homage of love and reverence to the great and good President whose death has smitten the nation with bitter grief.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the fourteenth day of September, A. D. one thousand, one hundred and one, and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-sixth. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the President: John Hay, Secretary of State.

ANARCHIST LYNCHED.

Antonio Maggio, Who Predicted That McKinley Would be Killed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 —Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service, to-night received a dispatch from United States Marshal Foraker, at Albuquerque, New Mexico, stating that Antonio Maggio, the anarchist, who was alleged to have predicted that the President would be killed before October, and to have expressed regret that he was not the man who was to do the killing, has been lynched. Marshal Foraker gave no details, but stated that his information came from the sheriff of Grant county where Maggio was a prisoner, detained on suspicion. Maggio was given an opportunity to explain his prediction and the allegation that he wished he was to do the killing, but declined to make any explanation. The last reports indicated that he was a prisoner at Silver City, New Mexico.

Report Denied.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—Chief Wilkie late to-night received another dispatch from United States Marshal Foraker, saying that the latter now has information from Silver City, N. M., that Maggio was not lynched.

The Seaboard Air Line railway has been advised that the Governor of North Carolina and staff will come on to Washington for the funeral of President McKinley, and has announced that it will make a rate of one cent per mile for military organizations and bands of twenty or more and half fare for the public on account of the obsequies.

The Liverpool Corn and Produce and Cotton Exchanges were closed yesterday in honor of President McKinley's old home.

AUTOPSY ON THE DEAD PRESIDENT.

Bullet That Passed Through the Stomach Was Direct Cause of Death.

DOCTORS WERE ALL AT FAULT

Funeral Arrangements—Remains to be Taken to White House in Washington, Thence to Capitol—A State Funeral—Final Interment.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, N. Y., September 14.—Absolute quiet prevailed in the neighborhood of the Milburn residence through the early hours of the day. The police maintained the lines on Delaware avenue and the streets which intersect it, and double picket lines, patrolled by Fourteenth infantrymen, protected them from any intrusion. Many persons came to the outer police lines and gazed in silence at the house where the body of the dead President reposes.

None who came to show their sorrow for the dead President failed to ask solicitously for Mrs. McKinley. It was known that she was not strong physically and there were grave fears for the suffering and shock she had experienced. The first word of encouragement came from the servants of the household, who said that she was still in her room and had apparently rested well. This report was amply confirmed at 8:45 o'clock by Dr. Wasdin, who had called at the house to see her. He said that she not only rested fairly well, but was showing encouraging strength in her grief.

The Autopsy.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14 —The following report of the autopsy upon the remains of President McKinley was issued at 5 o'clock:

The bullet which struck over the breast bone did not pass through and did little harm. The other bullet passed through both walls of the stomach near its lower border. Both holes were found to be perfectly closed by the stitches, but the tissue around each hole had become gangrenous. After passing through the stomach the bullet passed into the back walls of the abdomen, hitting and tearing the upper end of the kidney. This portion of the bullet's track was also gangrenous, the gangrene involving the pancreas. The bullet has not yet been found. There was no sign of peritonitis or disease of the other organs. The heart walls were very thin. There was no evidence of any attempt at repair on the part of nature, and death resulted from the gangrene, which affected the stomach around the bullet wounds as well as the tissue around the further course of the bullet. Death was unavoidable by any surgical or medical treatment, and was the direct result of the bullet wound.

(Signed) Harvey D. Gaylord, M. D.; Herman G. Metzinger, M. D.; P. M. Rixey, M. D.; Matthew D. Mann, M. D.; Herman Mynter, M. D.; Roswell Park, M. D.; Eugene Wasdin, M. D.; Charles G. Stockton, M. D.; Edward G. Janeway, M. D.; W. P. Kendall, surgeon U. S. A.; Charles Cary, M. D.; Edward L. Munson, assistant surgeon U. S. A.; Hermanus L. Baer, M. D.; W. D. Johnson, M. D.

Were Bullets Poisoned.

The report of the autopsy has given rise to a theory hinted at a day or two after the President was shot, that Czolgosz, in order to insure the accomplishment of his purpose, poisoned the bullets which he fired. The gangrene found in the path of the bullet is thought to be strong evidence in support of this view by Dr. Wasdin, one of the consulting physicians. Dr. Wasdin is considered an expert of high standing in the Marine Hospital Service.

A chemical and bacteriological examination of the remaining bullets in the pistol will, however, confirm or abolish this theory and such an examination will undoubtedly be made at once by the authorities. Whether this theory is established or not, it seems probable that the result of the autopsy will give rise to a medical controversy. The gangrened condition of the interior wounds which the physicians thought were healed and the fact that the physicians announced positively that the kidney which the bullet tore in its passage through the abdomen was uninjured, were so contrary to what was expected by the public after the statement of the physicians during the progress of the case, that discussion seems inevitable. The poisoned bullet theory might, of course, account for the sudden and puzzling reversal of President McKinley's condition just when the physicians laid such great stress upon his improved condition and gave such strong hope of his recovery. The bullet itself was not found, although an hour's search was made for it. The X-ray appliances were not at hand for the use of the physicians and the location of the bullet is still unknown.

The Casket.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14.—"William McKinley, born January 29th, 1843, died September 14th, 1901."

The foregoing is the inscription on the casket that will contain the remains of the martyred President. It is of red cedar, handsomely carved and covered with the finest black broadcloth. The interior is finished with copper, over which is a full tufted satin covering. A French bevel plate glass runs the full length of the top of the casket.

The outside case is made of red cedar, finely finished. The corners are capped with polished copper and the handles are of the same material. On the top of the case is a copper plate board, a duplicate of the inscription on the casket.

The Funeral Programme.

The funeral programme provides for a short service of prayer at the Milburn house at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. A quintette will sing "Lead Kindly Light," which was always the President's favorite hymn, and "Nearer My God to Thee," words from which the President murmured as he lay dying last night. Rev. Chas. E. Locke, of the Delaware Avenue M. E. church, will officiate. After the service the body will be borne to the city hall and there will be in state during the day, guarded by a detachment of New York National Guards. The public will be admitted to the city hall from noon until 5 P. M., a line being formed for the purpose of allowing the casket to be viewed. It will remain at the city hall until Monday morning and will be escorted thence to the train which will convey the funeral party to Washington.

Arriving there in the evening the body will be taken to the White House, where it will remain over night, and on Tuesday it will be taken formally to the Capitol, where the state funeral will be held. On Wednesday the remains will be escorted to Canton and on Thursday the interment will take place at President McKinley's old home.

Troops Will Participate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Order has been issued for the assembling of troops in Washington to participate in President McKinley's funeral services. The force will consist of a band and six companies of coast artillery from Fort Monroe; two companies of coast artillery from Fort Washington; one company of engineers from Willet's Point; two troops of cavalry from Fort Myer, and one light battery from Washington barracks. The two regiments of the District of Columbia National Guard also will participate. General Miles will command the troops if he reaches here in time. Otherwise, they will be commanded by Major General Brooke, commanding the Department of the East.
